Hickey (Raymond)

   In Ériu 33 (1982), pp. 137–156.

   In Word 35/1 (1984), pp. 67–75.

848. Hickey (Raymond): Reduction of allomorphy and the plural in Irish.

    In EWW 7/1 (1986), pp. 1–21.

    With special attention to the vocalic system of Cois Fharraige Ir.

8554. Hickey (Raymond): Historical developments and synchronic states: cases from Irish phonology.

    Examines the effect of Anglo-Norman on Irish and the status of English immediately after the invasion.

© School of Celtic Studies, DIAS 2020
Fisiak (Jacek) (hon.)

3998. Hickey (Raymond): Ireland as a linguistic area.
In UF 45 (1999), pp. 36–53.

4801. Hickey (Raymond): Direction and location in Modern Irish.

On the Irish English dialect of this area.

18494. Hickey (Raymond) (ed.): Language change in early Britain: the convergence account.
In Fs. Vennemann (2002), pp. 185–203.

14424. Hickey (Raymond): Internal and external forces again: changes in word order in Old English and Old Irish.

Discusses in particular the influence of the Hiberno-English of Waterford.

In ÉT 31/2 (2006), pp. 11–32.

Paper read to the 13th ICCS, Bonn 2007.

In LCC 39 (2009), pp. 62–89.

12490. Hickey (Raymond): The languages of Ireland: an integrated view.
In Researching the languages of Ireland (2011), pp. 1–45.
17215. Hickey (Raymond): Present and future horizons for Irish English: many forms of English exist in Ireland which illustrate language scenarios relevant to today’s anglophone world.
   In English today 27/2 (Jun., 2011), pp. 3–16.

12497. Hickey (Raymond): Gender in Modern Irish: the survival of a grammatical subsystem.
   In Researching the languages of Ireland (2011), pp. 159–180.

12489. Hickey (Raymond) (ed.): Researching the languages of Ireland / edited by Raymond Hickey.

   In RBPH/BTFG 90/3 (2012), pp. 973–999.

14909. Hickey (Raymond): The sound structure of Modern Irish.

17886. Hickey (Raymond): The pragmatics of Irish English and Irish.
