

4077. Ó Cruailaoich (Conchubhar): Aspects of third-syllable syncope in Old Irish.

In Béalra (2001), pp. 181–198.

Discusses the behaviour of dysyllabic personal endings when a vowel in the immediately preceding second or fourth syllable has not been syncopated, and the ensuing analogical morphological patterns.

Classifications:

- E 5.1.7.1: Verb, verbal noun: General and various
- E 4.2.1: Phonology: Early Irish